Searing Industries was started in 1985 by seven gentlemen who had a long history in the welded tube industry. Richard Searing ran one of the first tube mills back in 1948. He and his sons, Lee and Jim Searing, along with five other instrumental people began operating the new company in Los Angeles with just two old tube mills, no employees and no financing.

Over the years the company grew and continued to expand its business into eleven western states. Richard Searing died 17 years ago. This left his two sons Lee and Jim to run the business. In 2011, the company made the decision to expand its business from the California market into the mid-west. This allowed the company to service its existing as well as potentially new customers. Richard Searing, Lee's son did most of the research and it was decided to purchase 30 acres in Cheyenne and purchase a state of the art slitting machine and tube mill, expanding Searing's production range from 6x6 square to 10x10 square and round sizes from 6" round to 12" round.

Today after just one year since ground breaking the building is done and the mill is running, and houses some of Searing's best employees who relocated to Wyoming. Searing has also hired new employees from the Wyoming area and look forward to the potential this new operation offers to the company.

Cheyenne LEADS Board of Directors Update

Welcome to our newest Elected and Appointed Board Members

Jason Shenefield
CRMC

Jason joined Cheyenne Regional Medical Center in October of 2012 as the Director of Business Strategy and Planning and was appointed to the Cheyenne LEADS Board of Directors in the fall of 2013.

Born and raised in Central Iowa, Jason spent the past 18 years in Illinois. Jason's health care journey began as a Hospital Corpsman in the U.S. Navy, where he was stationed for 5 years at the Naval Hospital in Great Lakes, Illinois.

His career path has included working in health care IT, physician recruitment, hospital operations, cardiovascular service line management, medical clinic construction, and marketing. Jason received his Associates of Arts degree from the College of Lake County, a Bachelors of Science from Southern Illinois University in Health Care Administration, and a Masters of Business Administration in Health Care Management. Jason has also served as the President of the Illinois Staff Physician Recruiters organization and held an Illinois Realtor Sales license prior to moving to Wyoming.

When not thinking about how to adapt to an ever changing health care industry, Jason enjoys spending time exploring Wyoming with his wife Tarra, daughter Peyton (9), and sons Braydon (6) and Preston (2).
